

ABSTRACT

Described are novel equilenin derivatives of general formula I methods for producing the same and medicaments containing these compounds.

The new compounds have antioxidative activity and are usable for geroprophylaxis in women and men.